Weather Key Points

Regional Operations Center

Western Region

Friday, October 28

- Dry weather will mostly prevail across most of the state through early next week
 - Light precipitation will be possible Friday night into Saturday across northwestern California. However, no precipitation impacts are expected.
 - Very dry conditions and breezy winds are expected Friday through the weekend in the mountain and interior areas across southern California, which will lead to continued elevated fire weather conditions
- Another storm system will likely bring better precipitation chances, mountain snow, gusty winds, and a bigger cool down to most of the state sometime between Tuesday and Thursday, though exact details are still uncertain
 - Snow accumulation over the Sierra could bring some travel impacts
